

Anne Draddy

Sustainability Coordinator, City of Baltimore

Anne Draddy has worked for Baltimore City government for 20 years. During the last 4, she's been at the Office of Sustainability, where she led the update of the 2019 Sustainability Plan. The plan leads with an equity lens and its 23 topics range from Neighbors to Noise to Waste. Previously, Anne worked at the Energy Office and the Department of Recreation and Parks. She jump-started the TreeBaltimore program and facilitated the planting of 12,000 trees. She co-authored the book, Druid Hill Park the Historic Heart of Baltimore. Prior to joining the City, Anne was a community forester in the Kingdom of Tonga serving as a Peace Corps Volunteer.